Introduction to XML

Sr No.	Assignment Question
1	Assume that data for a book catalogue is available. An XML document for the book catalogue with the following elements: name, author, pages, price and table of contents are to be created. The price element should also specify whether the book is accompanied with a CD or DVD or both. Create an XML document for the above mentioned catalogue displaying data for about 10 books.